It seems to be the habit of distinguished alumni of this institution to write impressions of George Washington. The latest to burst forth on the printed page is a new alumnus, who writes for The Literary Scroll, and mentions some of the campus traditions. Everybody follows since we blazed the trail last year by taking Lella Warren to task for her blurb in College Humor. We all agree now that George Washington is O. K.

The Mob Scene from Cafeteria was reproduced the other evening when the try-outs for the Troubadours' annual outing at Wardman turned out no less than 225 aspirants. That's as many as turn out for a basketball game, and if each of the 225 brings four relatives to the show, dividends may be declared. May be we said.

These women basketball players, who work much and say little, have won three out of four intercollegiate games this year, losing only to William and Mary and winning from such opponents as Hood, Drexel, and American U. An athletic team that is doing something, egad.

"Ruins of Ur to be Shown," reads a headline. These folks will get in Dutch with the censor if they show too many ruins such as we have seen.

Somebody thought something was being censored; or ought to be, at this Frosh oratorical spurge, for the proofreader on the fraternity placards let slip the phrase "No admission." Of course, as Dr. Holt points out, the frat meant to say that no admission would be charged, but they didn't.

People who want to see what debaters look like when they are young ought to turn out and avail themselves of this free opportunity.

Bill Dismar is happy again. He is now writing up rifle team news, and the scores of 98 and 99 sound familiar to him after a season of football and basketball. He'll be in his glory when he gets over to track, where even half-points count, and even win meets occasionally.

Bucky is holding a meeting of the Musicians' Union at the Interfraternity Prom, with three bands of ten or eleven each lined up for the occasion. First Emory's band does its stuff until midnight, when favors are passed out and The Razz Berry gets everybody hot. Then Wesley Eddy and his gang enter the fray in a battle of music. The Majordomo of the Prom believes that Emory's band will weaken or something, so he has the Aster band lined up to substitute for them at one o'clock.

Perhaps the announcer will rise and say, "Wesley Eddy wins by a technical knockout. Aster now substituting in the opposite corner for Emory. Shake hands, boys."

Concerning this Razz Berry which the Pi Deltas are promulgating, it is interesting to listen to the rumors which are prevalent on campus. One would believe that these journalists are telling all they know, but our guess is that they are spoofing the whole bunch. They promise us fifty per cent more dirt this year, with six pages instead of four. How prosperous an organization such a fraternity gets when it pledges a lot of men.

Which reminds us that five S. A. E's as a finale to their Founders' Day Banquet crashed the gate at a Sigma Chi closed dance. Whether or not the Slickers issued the invitations is not known.

A Liberal Club is started at George Washington and as the first move in its liberal campaign is to write a constitution. Which calls to mind a statement made years ago to the effect that a radical is anyone who disagrees with the speaker.

Wonder if we're radical enough to join? (Engrave the invitation, please.)

Speaking of dirt, the Colonial Wig will bring out the low-down on the football situation as the several students see it. Whether or not what is said in the Wig pages is tame, at least it's a peach of a sales talk, you have to admit that.

The Mortification and Pestilence, excuse me, Mortar and Pestle, Society is formed by the pharmacists, so now we have one organization to cultivate if we want prescriptions in after life.

Now the telephone company follows a rubber company in seeking to acquire seniors with brains for their industries. If enough of these organizations come around, we'll get all of our graduates a job yet.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS DEBATED

Cross-Examination Used in Debate; Last Speakers Confine Efforts to Summarizing Arguments

George Washington University debaters met Western Reserve University last Tuesday evening, March 5, in Stockton Hall, in a forensic contest, featured by the unique style of debating that was employed. A combination of the Oxford and Oregon plans was used in debating the question, "Resolved, That the principle of complete freedom of speech and press on political and economic questions is sound."

The affirmative side was composed of Hearst R. Duncan and Andrew Howard of George Washington and Allen Green of Western Reserve. James Albert and Arthur Fiske of Western Reserve and Karl Frisbie of George Washington made up the negative.

The affirmative received the decision of the audience. Dean Van Vleck, of the Law School, presided as chairman.

Speakers Talk 20 Minutes

The first speakers of both sides were given twenty minutes to advance their constructive arguments. Each side was allowed ten minutes for a cross-examination of the first speaker of the opposing team. The last speaker for each team confined his efforts to a summarization of the arguments upon which his side was basing their case.

Hearst R. Duncan, the first speaker for the affirmative, maintained that freedom of speech and press are the essence of liberty.

James Albert, of the negative, then cross-examined Duncan.

Fiske Opens Negative

Arthur Fiske opened the argument for the negative. He held that democracy is endowed with a coercive force. "A country in time of war must have solidarity of public opinion," said Fiske. "In time of peace, politics, economics and social welfare must be taken into consideration as they regard free speech and free press."

Andrew Howard, of the affirmative, was then given ten minutes in which to cross-examine Fiske. Howard very effectively brought forth several admissions from his opponent.

Karl Frisbie, one of the mainstays of the team, in lending his aid to the invaders, gave a summary of the arguments of the negative. His speech was immediately followed by that of Allan Green who effectively summed up his team's arguments.

All students wishing to compete for positions on the Troubadours' producing staff in the Business, Stage, Costuming, Property and Electrical Departments should forward their applications to Dr. Bolwell immediately.

TROUBADOUR TRYS BRING OUT MANY

Director Connell Unable to Select Tentative Cast in First Tryouts

OVER HUNDRED CHORINES

Hilton and Henninger Report Splendid Progress on Libretto and Settings at Staff Meeting

Two hundred and twenty-five, aspirants for parts in the cast and chorus of "Sometime Soon" reported for the Troubadours' preliminary tryouts held in Corcoran Hall last Wednesday. This number has been increased by numerous applicants received by Managing Director James Fleck and Dancing Director Julia Denning from those who were unable to attend preliminary tryouts.

The next tryout for the cast, which will be the first elimination tryout, will be held at 7:30 o'clock on next Monday, March 18, in Corcoran Hall, room 1. All students who were present at previous tryouts are expected to attend. Also, all persons having specialty numbers should report. Those trying out for singing roles or song specialties will be given voice tests. Several of the numbers from "Sometime Soon" will be used in conducting the voice tryouts.

Understudies For Cast

At the preliminary tryouts held last Wednesday Dennis Connell used a portion of the manuscript from the current show in testing the probable acting ability of the candidates. Mr. Connell reports that several capable actors and actresses were found among the applicants for cast parts. There will be no definite selection of a tentative cast, however, until further tryouts. When the tentative cast is selected several persons will be temporarily cast in each part and the final cast and understudies will be selected after several rehearsals.

At the meeting of the producing staff last Monday night in Dr. Bolwell's office, the final draft of the libretto of "Sometime Soon" was read by the author Ralph Hilton. Stage Director Pern Henninger reported that the plans for the two sets for the production are being completed and actual construction of the scenery will commence in the near future.

Managing Director Fleck has again called attention to the fact that any additional musical numbers to be submitted for the 1929 production must be in the hands of Dr. Bolwell by March 15.

Razz Berry Full Of Dirt, Say Pi Deltas

Six Pages of Mysterious University Scandal to Appear at Interfrat Prom

The Razz Berry, annual "dirt" sheet, is scheduled to appear at the Interfraternity Prom again this year, going on sale immediately following the grand march at twelve o'clock. Members of Pi Delta Epsilon, editors of the scandal rag, say that it will surpass all previous issues for content and style.

Six pages of the current news which never reaches the student body of the University will be revealed in this year's six-page issue. The make-up of the Razz Berry has already started. Those who do not attend the Interfraternity Prom may buy copies at the University the following day only.

Pi Delta Epsilon's banquet and formal initiation plans have been tentatively arranged to take place about the middle of April, at which time seventeen members will be admitted to this national honorary journalistic fraternity.

FIRST YEAR MEN ARE TO SPEAK IN CONTEST FRIDAY

Judges to be Secretary Kayser, Professor Croissant, and Professor Farnham

GLEE CLUB FOUR TO SING IN SPECIAL PROGRAM

Interesting Topics Chosen; Large Audience Expected at Outstanding Forensic Event

Arrangements for the Phi Delta Gamma Freshmen Oratorical Contest, which is to take place next Friday, March 15, at 8:15 o'clock, Corcoran Hall, Room 1, have been completed. The President of the University, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, has accepted the invitation to preside over the event, and Dr. DeWitt Clinton Croissant, Professor G. L. Farnham and Secretary Elmer Louis Kayser, will act as judges.

In accordance with the rules of the contest as outlined by Phi Delta Gamma and accepted by the Administration, the President of the University, the Secretary of the University, the Head of the English Department, and the Professor of Public Speaking will be asked in each successive year to act in the capacity of officials of the contest, similar to the positions they have been invited to fill in this year's contest.

It was announced today by Raymond C. Crowell, Secretary of Phi Delta Gamma, that several novelties will be in store for those in attendance on Friday night. Among other things the George Washington University Men's Glee Club Quartette will appear in several numbers especially prepared for the occasion.

Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, Secretary of the University, to whom the manuscripts were submitted, reports that of the great number submitted the following interesting orations have been selected for final oral delivery on the night of the contest: "A Brief Review of Philippine Conditions," "Are Expenditures for National Defense Warranted," "Soldiers of the Sea," "Building a Nation," "Utility of the Press," "A Challenge to American Democracy," "Peace, How Can it be Obtained?" "The Value of a College Education," and "Tolerance."

Petronio A. Abiera, Kathryn Brinley, Richard C. Mark, J. S. Dietz, Mae Joseph, Juan R. Quijano, Jessie Kowalsky, Joseph Tarshes, and Ansel Taylor are the students who have been selected to present their oration in the final contest. To one of the three will be presented the attractive Phi Delta Gamma loving cup, while two more will receive gold medals of equal value.

The judges are instructed by the rules governing the contest to rate the contestants the content of their oration, their delivery, and stage presence, giving equal rating to each one of the three factors.

The contest is open to the public as well as to the student body, and it is anticipated by the executive committee in charge of arrangements that one of the largest audiences ever to attend a forensic event at George Washington University will be on hand. No admission will be charged.

Episcopal Clubs Plan Cathedral Memorial

Clubs Throughout Country to Raise Funds For Memorial at National Cathedral

The National Student Council of the College Episcopal Clubs of the United States, which met in Washington during the General Convention of the Episcopal Church, recently voted to raise funds for a suitable college students' memorial to be placed in the National Cathedral. The George Washington University Episcopal Club is the originator and sponsor of the movement.

A committee was appointed at the last meeting of the local club to work with representatives of clubs throughout the country in raising funds for the memorial. Pledges have already been received from the University of Maryland, the University of Texas, Johns Hopkins and other universities. All contributions will be placed in a special trust fund until final arrangements have been made. As soon as the necessary funds have been raised another conference will be held with officials and architects of the Cathedral to determine the type of memorial. According to present plans, as discussed at an earlier meeting with officials of the Cathedral, the memorial will be in the form of a statue or group of statues emblematic of student spirit.

All Episcopal students of the University, whether affiliated with the local club or not, are asked to take part in the movement.

PLACE OPEN

Any woman student interested in doing social case work in Baltimore, will please make application to Miss Evelyn Jones, Appointment Secretary of George Washington University.

THREE BANDS TO PLAY FOR PROM

Daugherty's Aster and Lido Orchestras To Play Against Wesley Eddy

MANY TICKETS SOLD

Programs to be Distributed to Interfraternity Council Delegates Early

Announcement now comes that there will be three orchestras instead of two for the annual Interfraternity Prom to be staged at the Willard Hotel on Friday evening, March 22, between the hours of ten and two.

The musical line-up as presented to the Interfraternity Council at its last meeting, by Chairman Herzog, brings forth the news that Emory Daugherty's Special Prom Orchestra will start the evening's entertainment. At about twelve o'clock, Wesley Eddy and his band will take the stage along with Daugherty. This combination will play alternately until one, at which time the Aster band will supplant the first combination under Daugherty's direction, and finish the evening in competition with Wesley Eddy's music.

Several important announcements of features of the Prom will be held for last minute release, the committee announces. These will be made public in the next issue of the Hatchet. Present indications point to a record-breaking crowd judging from the advance sale of tickets. Due to the fact that the favors are limited in number, it is urgently requested that all tickets be purchased by March 16 in order to provide the necessary number for both men and girls.

Prom programs will be in the hands of the Interfraternity Council delegates for early distribution, so that they may be filled out prior to the Prom.

Y. W. C. A. Sponsors Social Service Talk

Miss Lorna Smith, of Juvenile Court, to Speak Tomorrow; Card Party Scheduled

Miss Lorna Smith, of the Juvenile Court, will address members of the Y. W. C. A. tomorrow at noon on a few of the many interesting cases with which she comes in contact in her work as Case Worker. The meeting will be held in Corcoran Hall 17 and will be restricted to very little business and Miss Smith's talk.

The Y announces a Card Party to be held for the benefit of the Endowment Fund of the University in the Women's Building, March 29, at 8 p. m. Tickets may be obtained from members.

Children at Hillcrest will again receive Easter baskets filled with all kinds of goodies from the University Y. W. C. A.—their Easter Rabbit as well as their Santa Claus at Christmas time. Y girls will bring colored eggs to the Women's Building several days before Easter and the Y will furnish the baskets with candies besides.

BAKER TO AWARD PRIZE; WILL ADDRESS MEETING

Courtland Darke Baker, Instructor of English at George Washington, will deliver an address on "Poetry" at a meeting of the Writers' League of Washington, which will be held on March 15 at Thomson Center, 12th and L Streets, N. W., and will award prizes to the winners of the poetry contest sponsored by the League. Others on the program are Dr. Mary Meeko Atkeson, the first vice president of the National League of American Pen Women, who will speak on "Marketing the Approach to the Editor." Mrs. Watson will read one of her short stories, as will Miss Usher.

PROM PLANS PROGRESS

Plans for the Panhellenic Prom are now well under way, Marjorie Bowman, chairman of the committee directing the dance, announces. The Prom will be held from ten to two, Friday, April 12, in the main ballroom of the Willard Hotel. The Dagmoir band is furnishing the music. The committee is composed of Marjorie Bowman, chairman, Margaret Rees, Evelyn Pierson, and Myrtle Crouch. The Petticoat, satirical sheet published annually by Gamma Eta Zeta, will make its appearance at the Prom.

CO-ED BASKETERS BREAK EVEN THIS WEEK'S PLAYING

Women's Basketball Team Defeats Hood College And Is Defeated By W. and M.

G. W. WINS BY 30-17 AND LOSES BY 33-18

Both Games Characterized by Fast Passing, Brilliant Shooting and Close Guarding

The George Washington women basketball broke even in two basketball contests this week by defeating Hood College on their opponent's court at Frederick by a score of 30 to 17 on Wednesday, March 6, and by losing to the fast William and Mary sextet 33-18, on Saturday evening, March 9.

The defeat of Hood College made the Colonial co-ed team victors in the third consecutive game played this season. This game was much closer than the score indicates, both teams fighting hard from the beginning to the final whistle.

The fast game was characterized by brilliant playing and fast pass work on the part of the G. W. team. Jenny Turnbull excelled in her position as side-center, and Julia Denning at center was playing in fine form. Louise Berryman, although new at playing on the varsity squad, ran up seven baskets to her credit by a series of well-directed shots in close competition with Naomi Crumley, veteran in the varsity forward territory, who scored eight baskets.

Game Close

In the second game of the week the co-ed team suffered its first defeat of the season at the hands of the William and Mary sextet to the tune of 33-18 in one of the fastest women's games ever played in the H Street gymnasium.

This game was characterized by flashes of brilliant pass work and clever shooting for baskets on both sides. The play was much closer than the score would indicate, and the George Washington team put forth its best combinations of passes in an effort to get by the excellent guarding of their opponents.

The game was by no means an easy victory for the Southerners, the Colonials being able to hold the lead well into the first half, gaining an 8-6 edge at the quarter, but dropping behind 11-14 by the start of the second half.

Crumley opened the score by two shots from the free throw line, which she soon doubled by a field goal, but Dignan and Tanner soon sunk a basket apiece to tie the score. Crumley caged the ball ten times for a total of sixteen points of the eighteen won by the local team.

Berryman Shows Gameness

Although unknown to most spectators, Louise Berryman played through the game, while sustaining severe injuries suffered in a serious smash-up just two days previously. She was not up to her usual good form, but played well against some heavy guarding.

COLONIAL WIG ON SALE; INTERESTING FEATURES

Contributions Are Augmented by Force of New Writers; Prominent Students Give Opinions

Inaugurating a new style in George Washington publications, the March issue of the Colonial Wig, which is appearing on the campus for opening sale today, yields the editorial privilege to its readers in the discussion on football.

Articles printed are signed or not, according to the request of the writer. Prominent campus names appear and others perhaps equally known are veiled in anonymity. An anonymous open letter included in the collection undoubtedly provides surprising information for even those who think they are acquainted with football at the University.

Five short stories comprise the fiction portion. The Wig also proudly presents a story refused by Henry L. Mencken, the Mercury mentor, and a psychological study story by Esther Roebken, and also an ironically whimsical one by Catherine Hayes.

In a sprightly essay Prentice Morgan assails the "hide-bound heroes of '28." The poetry element finds new supporters in E. L. E. G. R., and other initial mysteries. George Roth adds a fantastic feeling with another of his poems.

The Stray Locks department is enlarged by a miscellany ranging from philosophizing to satirizing. Three reviews of varied types of books mark a new feature of the periodical.

Copies may be purchased from student salesmen on the Campus or in The Hatchet Office basement of Stockton Hall.

WE POINT WITH PRIDE

The suggestion of the Student Life Committee concerning class officers is a sound one. The proposal to set aside 115 student class officers and substitute in their stead four general university officers cannot but be approved by thinking persons. In the first place, a great number of officers, who do not know their duties for the simple reason that there are no duties, are reduced in number to four, who can easily find tasks.

Moreover, the fact that only four officers will be elected assures the student body of good representative students with ability. Politics will be played, of course, but since there will not be even enough offices to give each fraternity and sorority one apiece under the new plan, these organizations must set aside political alliances and depend on the personality and ability of the candidates to assure election.

These four officers will represent the University as a whole—and University student officers is a need that has been long apparent at George Washington. That each class will be taken care of is assured by the specification that one officer shall come from each the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman class. Representing, as they will, all schools and departments in the University save the Law and Medical schools, all interests in the University as represented on the G Street campus will be reflected.

This plan has much to recommend its approval by the President's Council.

AND VIEW WITH ALARM

Time flies, and six weeks of the second semester of this college year have passed. The Hatchet hopes that the faculty will see fit to adopt some plan in regard to cuts similar to that which this publication has recommended; namely, that as many cuts per semester be allowed a student as he is carrying semester hours. And it is the fervent wish of The Hatchet that this new policy may be established before the end of the present school year.

Judging from the number of initiation announcements and out-of-town visits by members of George Washington's social set, little time is being given to local functions, which just goes to prove that after the after-exam festivities so prevalent during the past few weeks, the social organizations are getting back to the old routine.

Chi Omega's pledge dance given to the active members at the Bethesda's Woman Club last Thursday night proved a most successful affair. Balloons and confetti added much color to the decorations.

Kappa Kappa Gamma alumnae of Washington were entertained at tea on Sunday afternoon by alumnae, members, and pledges of Gamma Beta Pi, at the home of Virginia Blackstone.

Founder's Day was celebrated by the Washington Phi Rho chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at its house on Saturday, March ninth, with a formal banquet. An orchestra composed of members of the chapter furnished the music for seventy-five celebrants, which included many prominent alumni, headed by Hon. A. Owsley Stanley.

Delta Theta Phi Law fraternity announces the formal initiation of Professor Finney Bascom Smith, Henry Eugene Bryan, William G. Cullen, Marion Bradley Earl, Justin Lincoln Edgerton, and Joe Robert Reed at a ceremonial and smoker held at the Carlton Hotel Saturday evening.

The Washington Alumni Association and the George Washington Chapter of Phi Mu Sorority will give their Annual Benefit Card Party at the Carlton Hotel on March 25.

Alpha Delta Pi announces the formal initiation of Betty Bradley, Margaret Ferguson, Sally Ferguson, Cecile Harrington, Marian Kreutzer, Elizabeth Rees, Elizabeth Reeves, Cloude Sentiere, Kitty Slaughter, Catherine Todd, and Doris Troth.

Theta Delta Chi had another of their Movie-Victrola parties at the charge house last Saturday night. The "feature" was the pictures of the Theta Delta Housewarming which took place last month. In addition to pictures of all the chapter, many well-known G. W. students were seen as well as a number of the faculty.

Kappa Delta announces the pledging of Florence Brookhart.

Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity entertained at dinner last Sunday in honor of the following: Mary Hudson, Ruth Campbell, Mabel Best, Lucy McGraw, Betty Brandt, Edith Norris and Helen Harter.

Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity announces the pledging of John Fulmer, Ernest Taylor and Edward Taylor.

Kappa Sigma is planning an Easter dance to be held at the Chapter House on March 23.

Lambda Phi Mu Medical fraternity announces the official initiation of James V. Bellefonte and Paul M. Bionda.

Genevieve Hoffman, Muriel Johnstone and Evelyn Haynes, of Alpha Pi Chapter of Kappa Delta at William and Mary, were guests at the Kappa Delta House over the weekend.

Kappa Xi sorority, University of Maryland, entertained at tea Sunday for members of Sigma Mu chapter of Kappa Delta.

The debating team of Swarthmore University were entertained at the Kappa Delta House during their recent visit to George Washington University.

Virginia Whitney attended the White House reception in honor of President Hoover on Monday. She was also a guest at a recent dinner party given in the President's honor at Wardman Park Hotel.

The Lambda Phi Mu Medical fraternity held its annual formal dance at the Mayflower Hotel on February 23. Among those present were Count Marchetti and Count Malardi of the Italian Embassy, Dr. Jenkins, Dr. King, Dr. Bosworth, Dr. Manganaro, and Dr. Duncan.

Phi Mu announces the promising of Mary Kyle.

Kappa Delta announces the formal initiation of Anna Bonner, Emogene Carter, Margaret Douthitt, Mary Harriman, Katherine Hawley and Mal Sykes at the chapter house last Sunday. A banquet was given in honor of the new initiates following the ceremony at the Hay-Adams House.

Carolyn Jackson and Eleanor Daniel attended the mid-winter dances at V. M. I. last weekend.

Claudia Sutton and Beverly Rittenhouse spent last weekend at the Naval Academy.

At a meeting of Phi chapter of Phi Chi fraternity on March 3, the following officers were elected: Presiding Senior, Stuart B. Gibson; Presiding Junior, Robert M. Bolton; Secretary, M. McKendrea Boyer; Treasurer, Beveridge Miller; Asst. Secretary, Howard A. Jones; Judge Advocate, Richard Mattingly; Sentinel, F. Neilson Strawbridge, and Scribe, Hugh M. Enyart.

G. W. U. LAW STUDENT WRITES FOR MAGAZINE

Writes on George Washington University in The Literary Scroll; Prominent Contributors

Raymond C. Crowell, George Washington Law School student, is a contributor to a recent issue of The Literary Scroll, national literary magazine of Phi Delta Gamma, in which he discusses George Washington University.

During the course of his paper, Mr. Crowell, discusses the advantages and traditions of the University, pointing to the unusual advantages afforded by the many government departments as well as the cultural influences of cosmopolitan Washington. Ten outstanding advantages are enumerated in his article.

In conclusion, Crowell says: "The University has a tradition—a tradition into which has gone the labors of countless numbers who have endeavored to solve its attendant problems throughout these years. When we leave our labors for the university we have this infinite tradition back of us."

Mr. Crowell, during his years at George Washington, has been president of Columbian Debating Society, a member of the intercollegiate debating team—which never lost a debate—and manager of debating. He has held every position in connection with debating at the University with the exception of that of coaching the team. He is now secretary of Phi Delta Gamma, professional forensic fraternity at George Washington University.

Nation-Wide Publicity To George Washington Through Inauguration

The University again receives nation-wide publicity. In the last few weeks it has been placed in the limelight by the presence of the President of the United States at the Mid-winter Convocation and also by the endowments that have been bestowed upon it. The Inauguration brings more publicity to the University.

Great throngs of people here to see the Inauguration of Herbert Hoover visited the various sights of the capital city. Located a few blocks from the scene of the memorable occasion, the University was the cynosure of many eyes.

The school was also represented at the exhibits that were placed in many parts of the city. It is estimated that upward of 25,000 people viewed an exhibit in a downtown office building. In a conspicuous part of this exhibit, George Washington University presented a large stand, bedecked in the colors of the American flag and the colors of the school, buff and blue. Underneath a portrait of George Washington, maps showed that the University received students from the forty-eight states, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico and twenty-four foreign countries. During the 1927-28 season there were 7,075 students enrolled, 605 degrees conferred and 346 instructors. Each of the twelve colleges that comprise the university were represented.

MATHEMATICS CLUB MEETS

Mr. P. J. Frederico, formerly of the faculty, addressed the Mathematics Club at its recent meeting, Tuesday, March 5, on "Multiple Points of Plane Curves."

At the next meeting of the club, Monday, March 18, at 8 o'clock in Corcoran Hall 25, Professor D. B. Lloyd of the University of Maryland, will speak on "The Three Problems of Antiquity."

WOMEN DEBATE TUESDAY

The women's debating team will meet a team from Temple University, New York City, on Tuesday, March 19, in Stockton Hall 1, at 8 o'clock. The subject under discussion will be "Resolved, That the present American jury system should be abolished." G. W. will uphold the negative. The decision will be by judges.

Independence, Mo. June 24, 1928.

Larus & Brother Co., Richmond, Va.

Dear Sirs:

Perhaps you would like to know in just a word or so how I am in partners with Edgeworth in a business way. By profession I am a cartoonist, who you probably know is called upon to create new ideas. While this is ranked as the hardest part of the profession, I have proved it may easily be mastered, if a person will but recline in any easy chair, light a pipe, and live with imaginative persons in the aromatic smoke clouds that will soon fill the room. Edgeworth has given me more ideas than any other brand of tobacco, so I "married" my pipe to it quite a while ago. The result has been wonderful. The more you use Edgeworth, the more you crave it—not as a drug, but as a wholesome pleasure.

Complimenting the standard quality (which means more than the words signify) of Edgeworth, I am a devoted and profound user.

Yours very respectfully,
James W. Bright

HIGHEST SCORES OF SEASON MADE IN RIFLE MATCH

Women's Rifle Team Shoots Telegraphic Match Against U. of Washington

CO-EDS DROP ONLY THREE POINTS OF POSSIBLE 500

G. W. Team to Defend Dot and Circle Championship Against Cohiers Next Week

Running up the highest scores of the season, the George Washington women's championship rifle team shot a telegraphic match against the University of Washington, Seattle, Washington, on Saturday, March 9. The scores of both the western and the local teams will be verified by the National Rifle Association before the results of the match will be officially published. The scores of only the five high shots are counted in the possible 500 points counted in the match, but ten members of the squad scored 97 or better in this competition.

High Scores Made

The scores are as follows:

Crumley	100
R. Wright	100
Junkin	99
H. Humphrey	99
Prentiss	99
Leighey	98
Clarke	99
Taylor	98
Parsons	98
Corea	97

The five top scores which are counted against the opponents' scores total 497, which is the highest total score to be recorded in any competition this season.

The next match will be telegraphic against Penn State on March 16.

Dot and Circle Matches

Next week competition will begin on the Annual National Dot and Circle Championship, which has been held by the George Washington co-eds for the past two years. Any team which is successful in holding the championship title of this national rifle fraternity for three successive years is entitled to hold the trophy permanently.

Interclass rifle matches will probably be held the last week in March.

FROSH FRAT CONSIDERS INSTALLATION PLANS

Dr. Humphries Addresses Meeting; High Scholarship Standards Set by Fraternity

The Freshman Honorary Fraternity was addressed at its last meeting by Dr. William J. Humphries of faculty, and the United States Weather Bureau. Before a large attendance, Dr. Humphries laid stress on the rewards of scholarship, and compared the attitudes of the workers and the non-workers. The address was closed with the hope expressed that the good work, characteristic to the members of the fraternity, would continue.

Plans were drawn up for the installation of the chapter and a tentative date was selected. If the national body approves of the plans, the installation exercises will take place in the Willard Hotel on April 10.

Mr. Richmond Zoch, the president of the chapter of twenty-eight members, has requested the registrar to furnish a report of the scholarship record so that those students who qualify scholastically may be bid. This chapter intends to bid freshmen after their first semester if they have met the proper requirements. For consideration, a student must present the mark A for one-half of his semester hours and at least B for the other half. Part-time students must present at least 15 hours work before they may receive consideration.

Until the report is forthcoming from the registrar's office, the fraternity is unable to proceed with its bidding. The next meeting of the fraternity will take place March 13.

Final Match of Series Scheduled For Next Week to Decide Cup

As a result of matches bowled the past week Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity is declared the winner of League A. In the matter of matches won and lost T. U. O. is tied with Phi Sigma Kappa, each having won four matches and lost one, but the T. U. O.'s are the winners as a result of having the greatest total of pins. The T. U. O. total is 7,387 pins, while the Phi Sigs only succeeded in pushing over 7,191 pins. The T. U. O.'s bowled the most consistently of any of the other teams in League A as evidenced by their majority of 196 pins, and lost their one and only match by two pins to P. S. K.

The final match of the series between Theta Upsilon Omega and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, respective winners of Leagues A and B, will be bowled off sometime early next week.

CO-ED BASKETERS BREAK EVEN THIS WEEK

Dignan, visiting forward, rolled up 24 of the 33 points scored by William and Mary, as the high spot in the game. She rarely missed a try from any conceivable angle on the floor, and broke through for some rapid scoring in the last quarter to put her team well in the fore.

Turnbull Stars

Turnbull played her usual crack game, playing hard both offensively and defensively, and breaking up many of the opponents' passes.

Folsom, guarding for the Colonial team, although tackling a hard job in covering Dignan, provided continual opposition to the Virginians.

The last part of the game was a continual battle on the home team's part to hold the visitors to a low score, fighting them all the way.

The line-up:

GEO. WASH.	HOOD COLLEGE
Crumley	F. Hottenstein
Berryman	F. Gabel
Palmer	C. Pilgram
Turnbull	SC Meyer

MR. E. C. COVER SPEAKS ON COMPANY'S POLICIES

The methods, policies, and history of the Bell Telephone Company were discussed before an interested group of Columbian students by E. C. Cover of the C. & P. After his address, Mr. Cover interviewed the students present with a view toward their employment in the Telephone Company.

Any man or girl wishing the position may see Mr. Thompson at the gymnasium.

PHARMACISTS PICK NAME

Mortar and Pestle Society has been chosen as the name of the organization of students of the School of Pharmacy. That this is the first time in the history of the University that an organization comprising all classes of the School of Pharmacy has been brought into existence, was pointed out by Doctor Paul Briggs at a recent meeting.

An executive committee composed of Ben Bass, Garafolo, and John Clements will shortly report on a proposed constitution for the society.

Buff and Blue Inexperienced in Shoulder-to-Shoulder, But Take Second N. R. A. Match

In one of the first shoulder-to-shoulder matches of the season, the George Washington riflemen were defeated by the Naval Academy, 1369-1330 last Saturday at Annapolis.

J. F. Marquis, with 271, was high man for the Buff and Blue, with Lucien Kerns and Theodore Harrell, tying for second place with 270 each.

The match was coached by Frank Parsons, Jr., last year's captain and high man, and Robert Leighey, another veteran from last year. Both men expressed satisfaction at the progress of the new G. W. team.

The Colonial women tossers will journey to Philadelphia this week end to play the Swarthmore sextet on their own floor, Friday night, March 15.

The G. W. co-eds have won three games out of four by a wide margin this season, and another victory would make a brilliant finish to their schedule.

According to Miss Davis, basketball coach, the tentative squad to make the trip is as follows: Naomi Crumley, Louise Berryman, Jenny Turnbull, Julia Denning, Dorothy Albert, Evelyn Folsom, Betty Zimmerman and Jean Sime.

Coch and Manager Play in Hard-Fought Game

The freshman basketball team which has won 8 and lost 7 games this year, disbanded at the end of last week after a game between the "Bonecrushers" and the "Humming Birds." The lightweights won, 29-7.

Drafting their coach to fill in at a forward position, the lighter team of Leverton, Castell, Thaden and Lefler ran all around their weighty opponents to run up a large score.

Stanton, Hoover, Cornwell, Goldberger, and Manager Staub fought hard for the losers, but their erratic shooting lost them many opportunities to score.

The Blarney Stone still does business at the old stand. You tip the guide to hold onto your heels, lean far over the castle wall, and print a respectful smack upon the famous relic. Thereafter you can charm the birds out of the trees; you can talk anybody out of anything, even to switching his favorite cigarette.

Unfortunately, the writer has never had this privilege, and his effort to make you see the light and light a Chesterfield must limit itself to a plain quotation of cigarette fact, namely: "We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price."

If that isn't the last word on the subject of smoking, your correspondent engages to eat the Blarney Stone upon his very next trip to the Emerald Isle.

G. W. ORATORS TO ENTER CONTESTS FOR HIGH HONORS

Winner of Final Contest in Los Angeles, June 20, to Receive $1,500

SUBJECT OF ORATIONS TO RELATE TO CONSTITUTION

April 12 Fixed as Tentative Date For Tryouts to Pick G. W. Representatives

Students of George Washington University, who have no degree, diploma or certificate of graduation from any institution of higher learning, are eligible to compete for $5,000 given in various prizes by the Better American Federation of California in the Fifth National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest to be held in June. A contest at which students of George Washington will compete among themselves to determine the winner to represent it in a contest with other Universities of the District, will be held next month; probably April 12.

This local contest, under the rules prescribed by the Federation must be held by April 15, and our spokesman selected. By April 27 the contest in the District of Columbia to determine the winner to represent the District in the National semi-finals must be held. After that date there will be an elimination contest between the representative of the District of Columbia and other regional schools to select the winner to appear upon the final program to be held in Los Angeles, June 20. The winner of this final contest will receive a prize of $1,500, and each of the first seven will be awarded a prize.

The orations are to deal with the Constitution and American statesmen. No oration to exceed ten minutes in delivery will be permitted. Impartial judges will be selected to judge the contestants who enter the local contest here next month. The judges will pass upon the composition and delivery while the orations are being delivered, and equal importance will be attached to composition and delivery according to the instructions governing the contest.

Large Number Interested

It is expected that there will be a large number of men and women students in George Washington, who will at once prepare orations. Organizations interested in debate and oratory should at once undertake to encourage individuals who are qualified to enter. It is essential that there be an audience to inspire the speakers, and this is one occasion where other engagements should give way.

With small financial support debate this year has increased in interest, and our teams have received more publicity than in previous years. It is pointed out that this is an opportunity for the students to show that oratory and debating are activities well worth while, and of as great value to the University as any extra-curricular work which can be done. The local contest as required by the published regulations, will be under the direction of the Committee on Debate of the University Faculty, of which Professor Earl C. Arnold of the Law School is Chairman. It is necessary that those who expect to participate in this event send to Professor Arnold the name and subject of the oration. Printed regulations governing the debate may be procured from his office on the fourth floor of Stockton Hall.

The contest must be held prior to April 15, and it will probably be on April 12, but information as to the exact time and place will be published in subsequent issues of The Hatchet.

Johns Hopkins will bring a group of seventy men from Baltimore; a chorus of forty, a banjo club of twenty, and an orchestra of ten. Each of these will be featured in the concert. A male quartet will also offer several selections.

Two groups of four songs each will be given by the Women's Glee Club. Helen Nash will render several solo numbers.

After the concert the Johns Hopkins orchestra, directed by Robert Harmon, will play for dancing. Admission for University students will be one dollar.

Cues, Curtain Calls and Clinches

By STAGE DOOR JOHNNY

COMING TO POLI'S

Poli's Theatre will offer for its attraction, commencing Sunday evening, March 17, Mark Twain's great classic, "A Connecticut Yankee," adapted for musical comedy purposes by Fields, Rodgers and Hart.

It was first given at the Vanderbilt Theatre in New York early in November, 1927, and ran there for one year to record-breaking receipts. The entire New York Company, together with the elaborate production will be brought to Washington for the engagement at Poli's. The production is owned and directed by Lew Fields and Lyle D. Andrews.

In the company, headed by that sterling actor, William Gaxton, are many well known musical comedy and dramatic entertainers, among them being Nana Bryant, Mary Adams, Alice Cavanaugh, Dorothy Rubino, Jack Thompson, Paul Everton, Richard Lane, George E. Mack, Gordon Burby, and others. The chorus is famous for its dancing qualities and agreeable looks, and the orchestra will be increased for this engagement.

One of the outstanding features of "A Connecticut Yankee" is the beauty of its musical score. Several of the songs are familiar here, such as "My Heart Stood Still" and "Thou Swell."

The story concerns the wanderings of a 1929 American through the Court of King Arthur in the year 528, when knights were in flower and men were men. It is made possible by the dream world route, and the various episodes are treated with satire, rare humor and subtle comedy. "A Connecticut Yankee" is called a gorgeous combination of pageantry and wisecracks.

COLUMBIA

The Paramount 100 per cent all talking picture "The Doctor's Secret" is the principal screen attraction at Loew's Columbia this week, having been held over in response to popular demand.

The story deals with London's society life and about a self-made wealthy man who has bought and considers fully paid for an aristocratic and beautiful wife. In his self-assurance, however, he is not aware that his wife leaves him to run away with her lover, who is accidentally killed, a half hour before they were to sail for Egypt. A doctor who brings in the body of the lover to the apartment where the woman awaits him learns the facts of the case without learning the identity of the woman. Later in the evening this same doctor is the guest of her husband at a dinner at their home.

EARLE

A mysterious jungle of Central America, a tropical tangle of wild vegetation shrouded in dismal mist, an eerie region of unseen horrors, ancient home of a lost race, but now shunned by whites, is the setting for "Stark Mad," the Warner Bros. Vitaphone production now at the Earle Theater. A man who ventured to penetrate into the most feared section of this vast region disappeared as if by magic, and his father, having organized a searching party of friends, drops anchor at the point where he had landed on the wooded coast only to discover later that the boy had been killed.

The adventures which follow, however, are nothing if not hair-raising. After landing and forcing

Father Smith Talks To Newman Club

Prior of Dominican Monastery Speaks on Thomas Aquinas; Committees Announced

The Rev. Father Ignatius Smith, O. P., Prior of the Dominican Monastery, in Brookland, gave a talk on "Saint Thomas Aquinas" to the members of the Newman Club at one of the largest meetings in the history of the Club, held in Corcoran Hall on March 7. Father Smith presented in convincing manner the real Thomas, and gave as a background for his talk a vivid picture of the period.

Larry Gage, chairman of the St. Patrick Dance committee, announced that all arrangements have been completed for the affair, which will be held in the Chantilly Room of the Hotel Hamilton on Monday, March 18. Joseph O'Connor is in charge of ticket distribution, decorations will be arranged by Mary Dorrer, Camilla Cleary and Agnes O'Brien, and publicity will be handled by Albert Wratton. The reception committee will comprise Jose Espinosa, Helen Kraft and Nash Knapp.

The Palm Sunday Breakfast of the club will be held at the Hotel Harrington on March 24. Information and tickets can be procured from Charles Ferry, 1358 Oak St. N. W.

The next meeting of the club will be held in Corcoran Hall on Thursday, March 21, at 8 p. m. Committees will be appointed to arrange for the remaining three social functions of the club—the Card Party, Newman Prom, and the annual May Luncheon at the Congressional Country Club. After the business meeting, the members of the club will journey to the Georgetown University Observatory, where the Director of the Observatory, Father Walsh, will lecture to the club.

their way into the strange swamp lands, they come upon the ancient ruins of a Mayan temple, and night finds them camped within its crumbling halls, their lanterns casting weird shadows on the walls and their bloodhounds baying dimly at unseen terrors. A gigantic ape, which eventually is discovered, plays a gruesome part in the thrilling adventures.

FOX

Monte Blue is starred as a railroad engineer in "Greyhound Limited," a Vitaphone talking picture at the Fox Theater this week.

The story of this speedy melodrama is an interesting version of the eternal triangle, the principals being an engineer, his fireman and a blonde waitress at a railway lunch counter.

The engineer boards in the home of his fireman, whose mother is distressed over her son's infatuation for a girl. She asks the engineer's help, and then the melodrama starts, with its thrills, laughter and love complications. The stage presentation, "Syncopation Revels," features Bert Frohman, who is master of ceremonies for a second week.

METROPOLITAN

"Wearry River" is one of those rare Barthelme characterizations akin to those he delivered in "Tollable David," "The Patent Leather Kid," and in "The Noose." Audiences have been surprised to hear the highly pleasing quality of his voice and some have doubted that it was he who sings. He plays also the song "Wearry River" on the piano with excellent feeling.

The story concerns a singing convict, whose musical inclinations are brought out in prison, whence he broadcasts over the radio, winning fame, liberty and a girl.

PALACE

Ronald Colman in "The Rescue" will be the screen attraction at Loew's Palace this week, with Lily Damita.

Ronald Colman portrays the role of "King Tom" Lingard, gentleman adventurer and master of a trading brig in the Javanese seas. His life, one day, is saved by the native rajah who sacrifices his kingdom in so doing. Lingard promises to restore the kingdom to his friend. The result is a dramatic and tremendously moving set of complications. The ending is as bitter-sweet and as powerfully moving as the director, Herbert Brenson, could make it.

On the stage, Wesley Eddy with the Palace Syncopators will present the premier production of Loew-Public, by Dave Gould, entitled "Harvest Time."

C. D. S. INDORSES SOCIALISM AIMS IN HOT DEBATE

Anti-Socialists Lose Debate By Only One Vote at Last Meeting

MORAL STANDARD TO BE THEME OF NEXT DEBATE

Wonderful Debate Expected on Friday as Good Men Are Scheduled to Speak

Columbian Debating Society went socialistic last Friday evening, March 8, 1929, by the strength of one vote. Lewis Dembitz and J. Lyman upheld the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, That this house approves the principles of socialism." Harold F. Arps and Bryant McLeroy argued on the negative.

"Socialism would promote efficiency in industry because of the cooperation of all the people," said Lyman in opening the argument for the affirmative.

Arps Opens Negative

Harold F. Arps opened the case for the negative. He held that socialism would cause national decay. "Under socialism, where there is no reward for superior talent, initiative would be stifled," maintained Arps.

Dembitz exalted the status of the proletariat. "Socialism will result in the financial stability of the United States," he said.

"Socialism has no definite program and has no place in this country," argued McLeroy in closing the argument for the negative.

Five Speak on Floor

Three minute speeches were made by Ernest L. Heckert, James G. Wingy, G. Rabinowitz, G. Eisenberg, and S. Alpher.

"Resolved, That this house condemns the single standard of morality," will be the subject for the debate next Friday evening. The affirmative will be taken by Hearst R. Duncan and C. T. Shanner. Ralph Joyce and Andrew Howard will uphold the negative.

AIRCRAFT CONSTRUCTION TO BE SUBJECT OF TALK

Henry A. Berliner to Address Engineers' Meeting

Henry A. Berliner, Vice President of the Berliner-Joyce Aircraft Corporation of Baltimore, will speak on Aircraft Construction at an Engineer Meeting to be held this evening in Corcoran Hall 29 at 8:00 o'clock. The meeting is open to all students of the University who are interested in aviation. Mr. Berliner has had thirteen years' experience in building airplanes.

This is to be a joint meeting of the G. W. U. Student Chapters of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. An election of officers of the Mechanical Engineers will be held at 7:30, before the joint meeting.

DISCUSSIONAL GROUP FORMED BY STUDENTS

Undergraduates Model Organization on Plans of Liberal Club of Harvard

"To promote a keener understanding in the University of present-day problems by encouraging the fair-minded discussion of controversial questions" is the direct purpose as stated in the constitution of a club organized March 7 by a group of undergraduates of the University. Paul Linebarger was elected president; Beatrice Levine, secretary; and Wayne Buchanan, treasurer, of the new organization, which is modeled on the plans of the Liberal Club of Harvard.

The group, which has taken the name of the Liberal Club of George Washington University, proposes to conduct forums in which students may freely exchange views on any subject in which members are interested. To carry out this object the group will not confine itself to political problems, but will attempt to interpret progressive movements in all fields of intellectual and artistic endeavor, as well as social and economic questions.

"Who, what, when, and why is a patriot?" "The Billings and Mooney case," and "The worth and effect of Eugene O'Neill's plays" were selected as topics for the next meeting. Notices will be in the "Hatchet" and on the bulletin boards announcing the exact date; it will probably be two weeks from the last one. Any student or faculty member may be a member.

MADGE BELLAMY . . . Beautiful Fox star in her latest release, "Mother Knows Best."

Madge Bellamy explains the growing popularity of Old Golds in Hollywood

"The 'hero' in a movie may easily become the 'villain' if he coughs at the wrong time. A cough isn't ever nice, but when it interrupts the taking of a movie scene, it's a calamity!

"The high tension of movie work makes smoking a vital relaxation. But we relax with OLD GOLDS.

They're as smooth as the polished manner of Adolphe Menjou, who himself is an OLD GOLD fan.

Madge Bellamy
